

We Can't Change the World, but We Can Change Their World!

Here are five Filipino students that you can support right now. Each student has been proven in character and service at C3 Church in Cavite, Manila. C3 means...The Church-Community Connection. All five students see their career as their ministry and their ministry as their career. They desire to be difference makers and city changers in their sphere of influence in their community. They have served in our Nationstrategy for several years now.

Here is what Pastor Loida Llanes says about these students:

We are so grateful for your consideration in supporting five faithful student leaders at C3 Church. This has been in our prayers (especially me! 😊). We have been praying for someone who will give these youths the opportunity to see their dreams will be fulfilled.

These are the students we would like to recommend for college or university scholarships. They have been with us for quite some time and has been involved with NationStrategy as well.

He really loves to go to university for learning how to be an aircraft mechanic. He stopped going to university for a year because his parents couldn't pay the tuition fees anymore. He went back to university this year because his parents found ways to have him enrolled again. Jason got a academic scholarship last year. He only paid 7,000 pesos for the semester ($153.27). Hopefully he will get his academic scholarship again this coming semester. He works at sideline jobs like selling ice candy, banana's, etc., just to save money for his schooling. By the way, his parents are working in a factory. When he is able to finish this course, he will be the first in their entire clan to finish a course in university. This is his Dad and Mom's dream.

Bon Jolly, is a high school classmate of Marcel Levardo. His dad passed away when he was only three years old. After high school, he wasn't able to go to school because he has to work in a factory in order to help his mother financially. But his desire is to become a teacher or study business management. When given the opportunity to attend university, he will stop working. The challenge is how to support his mom. He has a sister who works as well but the income of her sister is not enough for them should Bon will stop working. There is a solution in God though.
